One of many™

Women's PowerTypes™

THE PROFILING TOOL FOR WOMEN LEADERS

POWERTYPE REPORT GENERATED FOR:

Jo Starkie

© One of many 2019

One of many™

oneofmany.co.uk

High scoring PowerTypes are likely the ones that are most active in your life now, serving as allies and defining the experience of life you have. Your least-expressed PowerType, for which you scored the lowest, represents qualities that you may have repressed. This PowerType gives much information into the challenges you may be experiencing in life, and shape your unconscious behaviours.

The scoring:

0-36: These are the most under-expressed PowerTypes in your life at the current time. You may find people who are strongly expressing them difficult to understand or irritating, and you may find you consider this aspect undesirable. And we often find the key to challenges being experienced in work, relationships and life can be found in our under-expressed PowerTypes.

37-50: You have access to this PowerType. Although you don't rely on it much, and find it not that natural.

51-78: You have ready access to this PowerType. When you're feeling at your best, and getting results it is often this PowerType you are using. The qualities are readily available to you when you need them.

79-96: This PowerType is very active in your life. If you score highly on this, and other PowerTypes you are likely experiencing a "balanced" expression; and getting great results accordingly in this arena. If however you score highly on one it may be this PowerType is currently over-expressed in your life. Read the descriptions to see whether this is an issue for you.

© One of many 2019

Your scores

WARRIORESS
40

LOVER
25

MOTHER
59

QUEEN
31

SORCERESS
35

YOUR PRIMARY POWERTYPE:
Mother

YOUR SECONDARY POWERTYPE:
Warrioress

YOUR LEAST EXPRESSED POWERTYPE:
Lover

© One of many 2019

Mother

A woman does not need to have children to have a robust Mother PowerType. For example one of our One of many team members has a 15 year old daughter who describes herself as The Mother of her teen friendship group.

Always available to provide a space of safety, warmth and solace, the Mother is where we all go for nurture and nourishment. It is likely that you are sought out as a good shoulder to cry on when things come up for others. But more than just times of trouble, you are also sought out by those who just need a bit of something and you are the remedy. You are patient and kind, mothering not just your children, but all children and the planet. Your patience means you are likely to be a good teacher.

Unconditionally loving and accepting, you always look to bring out the best in others. You're a strong influence for nurturing the talents in others and you foster their independence, helping them bring out the best parts of themselves.

You will sometimes sacrifice your own needs for any of the people who you identify as your family. Think of the mother of a newborn who forgoes sleep, food, and more to tend to the needs of her crying baby. It is for this reason that a strong mother can sometimes morph into the martyr without the balancing effects of other PowerTypes like the Lover or Queen.

The Mother has a strong connection to nature and the natural rhythm and cycles of life. You probably find great pleasure from walking or being in nature and enjoy the changing seasons.

The Mother is centred in the earth energy of late summer.

Characteristics which you may recognise:

© One of many 2019

- Giver of life
- Nurturing
- Caring
- Safe
- Considerate and fair
- Sacrifices for her family
- Unconditionally loving
- Unconditionally accepting
- Encouraging
- Patient
- Teacher
- Connected to cycles and seasons
- Mothers not just children, but the planet

What you inspire in others:

When someone is in the presence of you in your Mother they feel a sense of honour and treat you accordingly. You bring out their courage through your gentle encouragement, which inspires them towards their own greatness and independence.

You see the best in others, and that causes them to bring their best.

Your natural earthy qualities and your appreciation of the natural rhythm of life inspires gratitude.

People come to you for:

Others come to you to experience a sense of safety and solace. You effortlessly create a space for them to breathe and relax. A place where they can come to rest and have that sense of feeling at home instead of lost.

They come to you for care and cherishing, as seeing the best in them you make them feel special and wanted. Your capacity for unconditional love and acceptance is also something others are drawn to you for.

People enjoy to be in your home as you provide a warm hearth, probably with much laughter, love and hearty meals!

You lead through love and encouragement

As a leader you use gentle encouragement, seeking to grow through praise and acknowledgement rather than criticism. Teaching and coaching are your tools of choice.

© One of many 2019

You patiently work to bring out the best in every member of your team, certain in the knowledge that everyone's contribution is valuable and important. As a leader the Mother works to bring her whole team to recognise the valuable contribution of all.

You look to the wellbeing of your team, and support them to take care of themselves. You know that everyone is important.

Over-Expression: A really high score can mean two different things. It is possible to be high and balanced or high and experiencing the problems of over-expression. If you score highly in several PowerTypes then it is possible that several PowerTypes are active and likely that there is a natural harmony being created in which case you may not resonate with the over-expressed qualities.

However, if you scored really highly in one PowerType and low in all the others you are probably experiencing some of the challenges which result from over-expression. The information below highlights the most common challenges faced in this instance.

The over-expressed mother

When out of balance, the mother can become fiercely possessive, controlling and inappropriately fusses over those in the "child" role. You may find you foster co-dependency and can sometimes smother people, stifling their growth.

You may be afraid to be alone, and sometimes use guilt to keep others near and needy. You perhaps often become the martyr, seeking sympathy for your plight.

Remember that you are looking to incorporate all the PowerTypes in your life and over-expression or under-expression is nothing to feel bad about, it is simply an indicator to facilitate your personal growth. We have a plethora of tools and techniques designed specifically to support you to grow in healthy expression of the PowerTypes, so that you can harness the Soft Power that is your natural strength as a woman.

The under-expressed mother

The under-expressed Mother can be seen as or feel cold, distant and uncaring because she doesn't want to be needed. She may come across as judgmental, and can be conditional and perhaps transactional in her relationships with others. She tends towards selfish and neglectful behaviour, and needs to be careful that she is not hurtful to others.

© One of many 2019

Warrioress

With a strong Warrioress PowerType you probably feel very energetic, possibly even youthful. You are likely to be active and dynamic and enjoy getting out and about. If for any reason you are unable to make the time for activity and be out and about this can be a big frustration for you.

You are a woman of strong conviction. The Warrioress is characterized by her commitment to fighting for justice, so it's likely you will feel compelled to stand up for what's right and have a strong draw to rectify injustice. You may find you feel truly inspired and energized when you have a cause to champion. You're good at defending your boundaries but if necessary you may sacrifice yourself because you deem the cause requires it. Like the mythical Amazonian woman, you're often courageous, pride yourself on being independent and are quick to act. With the strength of a tigress you look after your own.

You enjoy play and are often able to see the lighter side of life. You may enjoy rough and tumble with children and love to roll your sleeves up and get stuck in to what's going on. Others admire your raw energy, but sometimes you can be hard to keep up with.

The Warrioress is centred in the wood energy of spring.

© One of many 2019

Characteristics which you may recognise

- Youthful
- Athletic
- Playful
- Agile and flexible
- Conviction
- Resilient
- Fights for justice
- Defends boundaries: (home, work, finances, children, body)
- Will sacrifice for her cause
- Independent
- Disciplined
- Sees opportunity, trusts instinct then acts quickly

What you inspire in others:

When someone is in the presence of you in your Warrioress they feel inspired into action because your action moves them along with you. They will feel empowered because you make them feel like anything is possible when you just put one foot in front of the other and start doing something. You inspire admiration as others consider you a very capable person who gets things done.

People come to you for:

People come to you for protection, they feel safe with you and know that your word is a powerful thing. If you say you are on their side then they can trust that you've got their back and will support them, even if the going gets tough.

'When the going gets tough, the Warrioress gets stuck in.'

Others really enjoy your vitality, it makes them feel alive and your zest for life is often a sought after quality as people want a bit of it to rub off on them. You have a wonderful ability to easily see the lighter side of life and not allow yourself to get bogged down by negativity, instead choosing to focus on action and momentum.

People enjoy your playful side and youthful sense of fun, it's not uncommon for people to come to you when they need cheering up. There's nothing like a bit of rough and tumble play to blow the cobwebs away, children love it but also your sexual partner will enjoy a bit of your Warrioress too!

You lead through cause and participation

© One of many 2019

As a leader you commonly stand alongside your fellow teammates, and really enjoy rolling up your sleeves and getting fully involved. You lead by example, and are often the best at the task, or most dedicated to the project.

Your excellence can sometimes create problems for your team who may feel like they need to run to keep up with you and that they can never be as good or as committed as you. Just because you can do it, at the pace you can do it, doesn't mean that your team can.

The solution is being aware that sometimes you need to bring one of the other PowerTypes to support your team to be their best.

Over-Expression: A really high score can mean two different things. It is possible to be high and balanced or high and experiencing the problems and challenges of over-expression. If you score highly in several PowerTypes then it is possible that several PowerTypes are active and likely that there is a natural harmony being created in which case you may not resonate with the over-expressed qualities.

However, if you scored really highly in one PowerType and low in all the others you are probably experiencing some of the challenges which result from over-expression. The information below highlights the most common challenges faced in this instance.

The over-expressed Warrioress:

Too much Warrioress can lead to burn out. You have ready access to masculine energy, but as a woman this can lead to fatigue if you do not manage your energy levels properly and ensure you create time to replenish yourself.

Sometimes the cause and mission of the Warrioress can leave little room for emotions or meaningful connection, which can lead to relationship breakdown both personally and professionally.

A team running to keep up with a perpetual Warrioress will eventually fatigue, disengage and be de-motivated as they consistently strive to achieve the leader's unattainably high standards.

Remember that you are looking to incorporate all the PowerTypes in your life and over-expression or under-expression is nothing to feel bad about, it is simply an indicator to facilitate your personal growth. We have a plethora of tools and techniques designed specifically to support you to grow in healthy expression of the PowerTypes, so that you can harness the Soft Power that is your natural strength as a woman.

© One of many 2019

The under-expressed Warrioress:

Too little Warrioress results in a woman with little get up and go. She may often find herself as the victim, being walked over and ignored. She may have no boundaries which can result in her feeling like people are taking advantage of her. She often complains about situations, but feels powerless to change things. Fun is lacking in her life. When faced with opportunity she vacillates, at its worst meaning that no decision gets made and the opportunity passes her by which leads to further despondency. She is often more interested in what others think of her, than in her own truth.

Lover

The Lover is characterised not just by her sensuality and sexuality, but by her enjoyment of emotion, her love of feeling in general no matter what it is, as well as a love of life itself. You probably find that you just love feelings and the juiciness of them all, reveling in the ups and the downs. You may start to feel "not yourself" when you're not having intense emotional experiences.

You have a strong appreciation of ambience and beauty and really enjoy beautifying spaces and bringing a delicious energy to them. You may find you gauge places by how they make you feel as well as express your experience in this way.

Just as life commences in sexual union, the Lover is the source of life and of creativity. Think of the great artists throughout time who would have their muse. Through connection with their muse (Lover archetype), and indeed love of their muse (they too could access life energy and create great art).

You are likely to relish in the exploration of the world through your five senses, and enjoy the varying qualities that arise when you experience the same thing through a different sense. You delight in tangible and tactile things, and are usually very comfortable with touch and will really miss this aspect if it is lacking in your life. You delight in giving and receiving pleasure in all domains.

© One of many 2019

There is a magnetic quality about you and people are commonly captivated by your presence and connection to life source. You're warm and inviting and make everyone feel welcome. You exude life force and vitality and people want to rest in your presence because it has the qualities of the ultimate feminine. You are likely to take great pleasure from feeling special to someone.

Boundaries can commonly be one of the Lovers greatest challenges, where do you end and the other begin? A strong Lover loves both giving and receiving and knows they need both to flourish and thrive.

In the workplace a strong lover can be identified by their devoted listening, their charisma and their willingness to prioritise self-care. With a strong Lover you are less likely to suffer from burnout.

The Lover is centred in the fire energy of early summer.

Characteristics which you may recognise

- Sensual and sexual
- Seductive and captivating
- Inviting and magnetic
- Brings ambience and beauty
- Gives life force, vitality
- Source of creativity and inspiration
- Relishes giving and receiving pleasure
- Delights in emotion and feeling
- Enjoys self-care
- Practices devoted listening
- Enjoys feeling special
- Wants to merge energies
- Not great at boundaries

What you inspire in others:

When someone is in the presence of you in your Lover they feel a sense of aliveness and arousal. Your delight in the senses offers permission for them to discover the same in themselves. Love and romance fill the air as others become captivated by the pleasures of the senses and, in the right circumstances of course, an invitation to surrender to ecstasy. Through unlocking the sensual you inspire creativity in others.

© One of many 2019

Your natural magnetism inspires generosity and loving protection, because you are special and charismatic others will fight for you, and how you make them feel. By contrast, people will defend and protect the Queen PowerType no matter what sort of person she is because of the duty to the vision, but the Lover is protected because she is special and because people love her.

The Lover also inspires agreement and risk-taking, and is great for those in sales roles.

People come to you for:

Others gravitate to you to experience the direct connection with life energy. They come to be known and be open. You really see people and offer the opportunity to connect in a very deep and intimate way. People feel with you there is no need to hide.

People come to you for the giving and receiving of love and pleasure. The Lover is about everything sensual, more than simply just sexual, so you often have strong loving bonds with others.

Men are drawn to the Lover in you so that they can feel masculine.

You lead through invitation and appreciation.

As a leader the Lover is captivating and magnetic and therefore people often find it hard to say no to you, so you may be rarely denied. Perhaps the way you ask and your cheeky little smile gets them every time.

Your invitations hold the promise of a rich experience and you are thus able to tempt others to coming on board with you. You may well shower your team with gifts, appreciation and experiences that delight the senses.

People follow you because they love you.

Over-Expression: A really high score can mean two different things. It is possible to be high and balanced or high and experiencing the problems of over-expression. If you score highly in several PowerTypes then it is possible that several PowerTypes are active and likely that there is a natural harmony being created in which case you may not resonate with the over-expressed qualities.

However, if you scored really highly in one PowerType and low in all the others you are probably experiencing some of the challenges which result from over-expression. The information below highlights the most common challenges faced in this instance.

© One of many 2019

The over-expressed Lover

When out of balance, the Lover can become addicted to the pursuit and experience of love and pleasure. She wanders the world (sometimes literally) eternally searching for that one person, place or experience that will make her feel truly alive. It can take over your life and occupy your every waking thought. You may experience a strong feeling that something is missing but you just can't quite put your finger on it.

You may find you fall in love with everyone you meets and have an overwhelming need for connection with them. You likely find it very difficult to be alone and can't help but wallow in despair when you are.

The over-expressed Lover has a tendency to become obsessed with objects of desire – certain people or activities- sadly often to the point of ruin.

Remember that you are looking to incorporate all the PowerTypes in your life and over-expression or under-expression is nothing to feel bad about, it is simply an indicator to facilitate your personal growth. We have a plethora of tools and techniques designed specifically to support you to grow in healthy expression of the PowerTypes, so that you can harness the Soft Power that is your natural strength as a woman.

The under-expressed Lover

A lack of self-care and self-love is characteristic of the under-expressed Lover. She is at the root of many cases of burn out.

She experiences life as grey and monotone and may suffer from depression. Nothing in life seems to bring her any joy.

She may well be laden with rules and discipline. Her libido is likely to be low, and couple relationships (if present) are particularly challenging for her as they lack intimacy and may be breaking down.

© One of many 2019